Fleur de Lis Fordson High School Dearborn, Michigan 1966

Time

It flies quietly by when one turns his back to enjoy a minute of pleasure, wanting it to stay. It crawls slowly along, never really seeming to get anywhere when one wants it to quicken. What is it? Time.

Is time the enemy of all men? It makes children grow up before they are ready. Time makes beloved parents grow old. It takes them from their loved ones across the sea or just down the street, but doesn't bring them back.

Maybe time is the friend of man. It heals wounds and forgets pain. It brings new friends and destroys loneliness. It soothes the broken heart. What goes there — friend or foe?

Diana Adams

A better education is becoming

Fleur de Lis 1966

more important in today's changing society

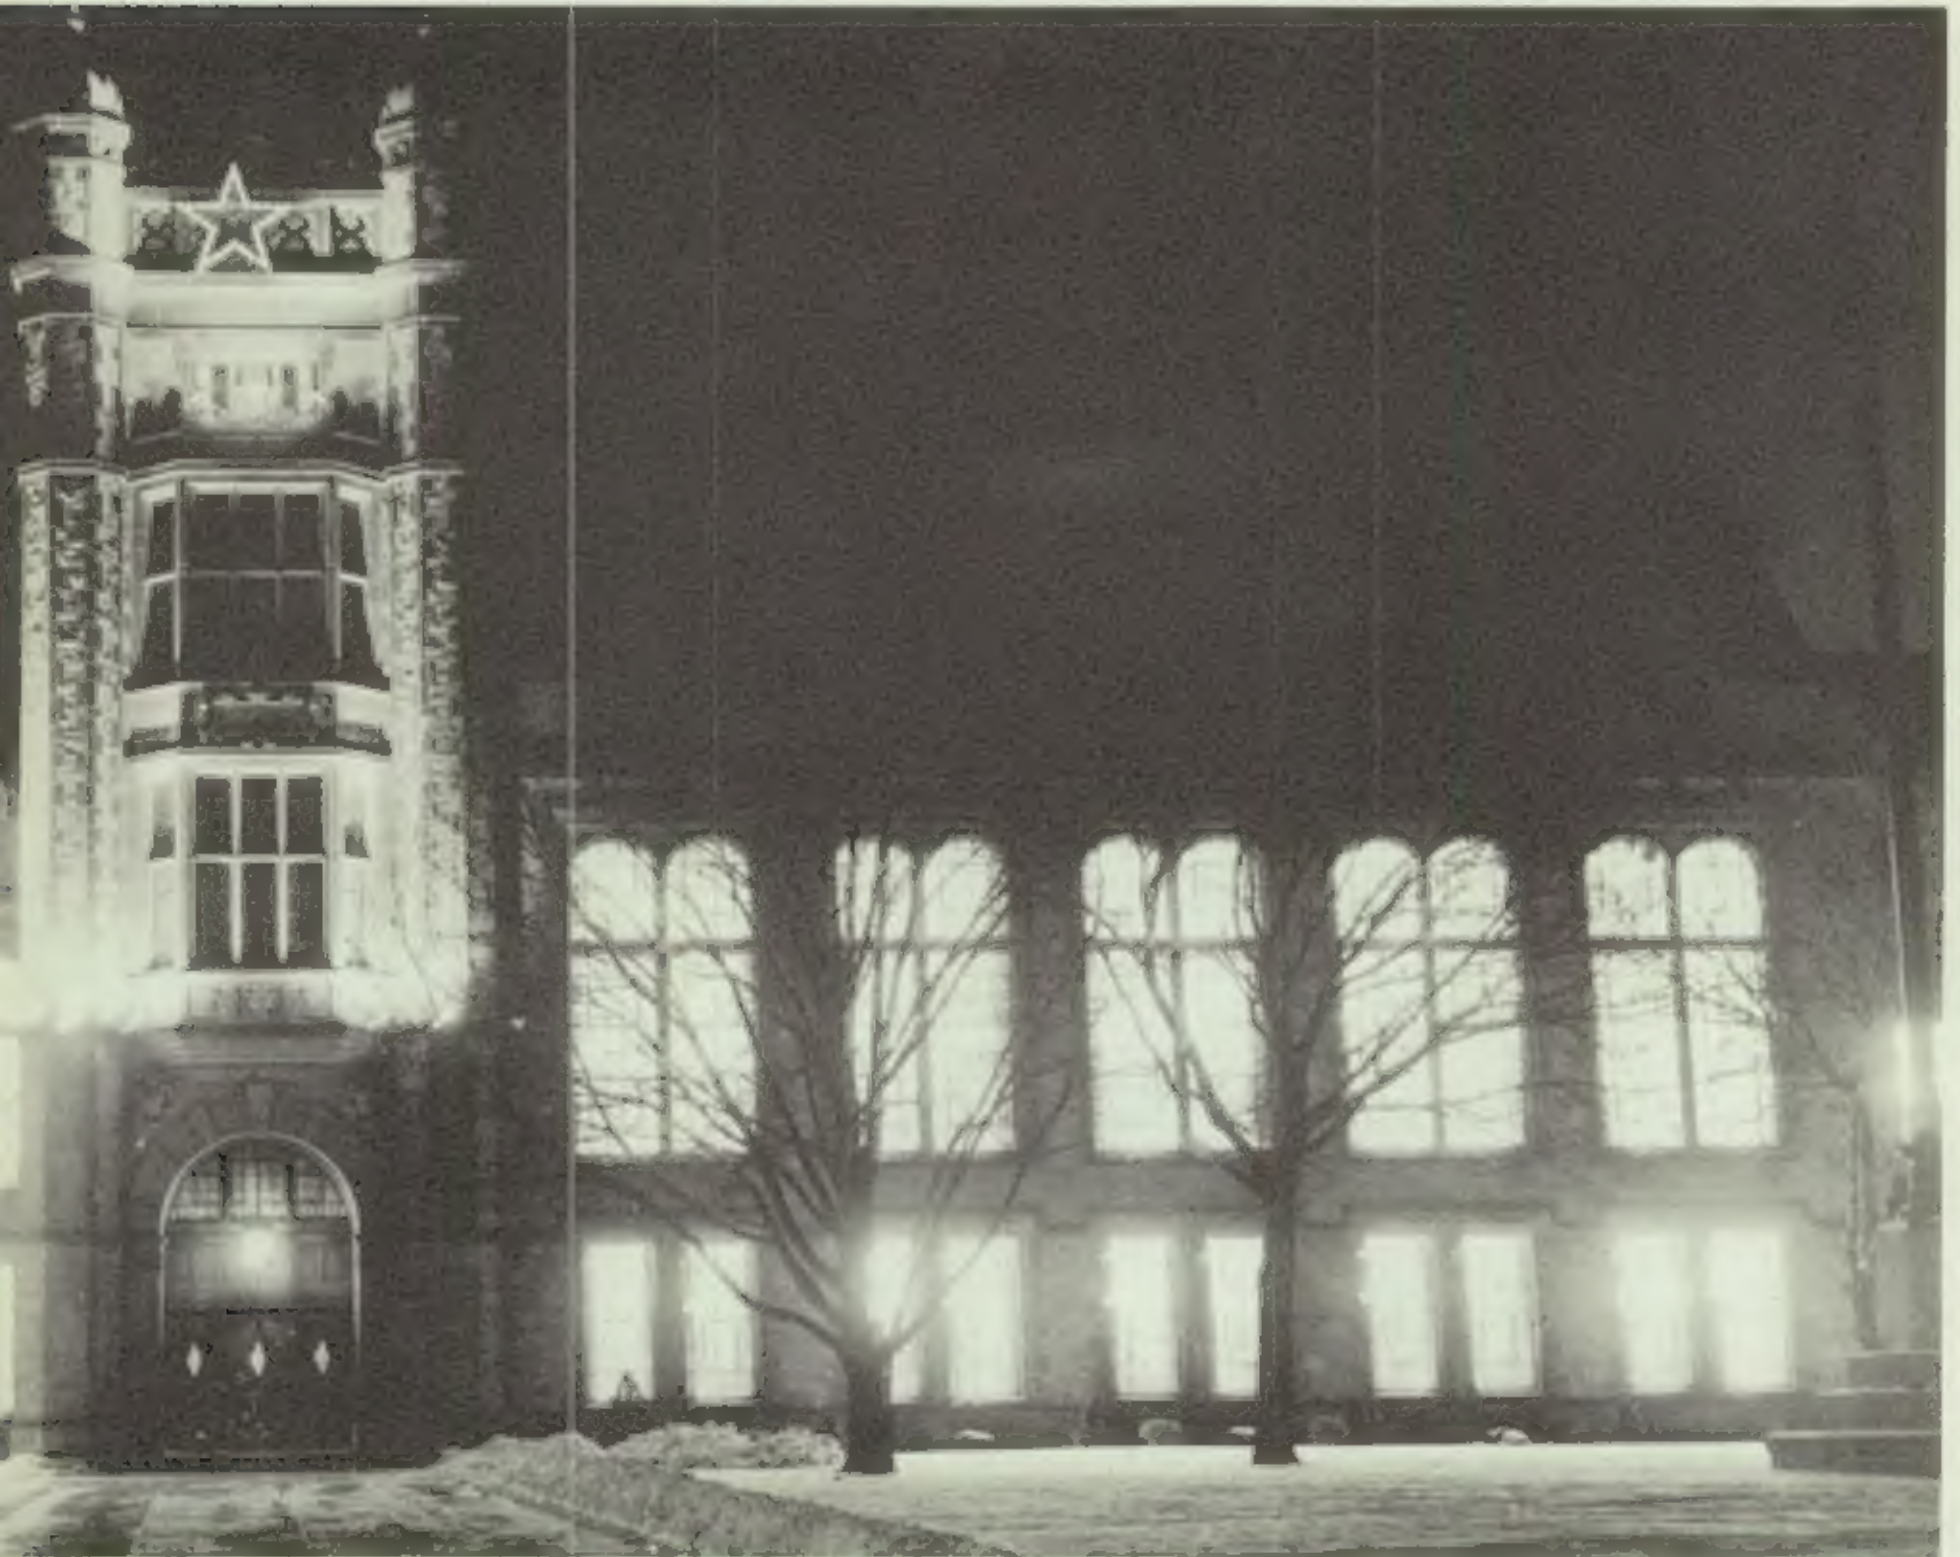

Fordsonites cheer on the Tractors.

Time, is there ever enough of it, to fulfill all the activities that Fordson students engage in. Important events, keen competition, the Senior Prom, and finally graduation.

There is no coming back after you leave Fordson's doors just memories to linger on. Days can be alike but never the same.

The memories of the days gone by change just as the days in the future will be different from the days in the past. Through the years we will look back and remember the bittersweet days of youth and the high school years.

Fordson, too, is given some decoration for the Christmas holidays.

From early morning until

STUDENT LIFE

late at night Fordsonites are always active

One of the many sports at Fordson.

The factor that binds all of the many aspects of Fordson's program is school spirit. This element of school spirit increases with every victory and yet remains through every loss. Athletes, students, and spectators find sports an enjoyable, exciting means of expending extra energy and identifying themselves with the school. In this particular phase of school life, every Fordsonite is involved in reaching a common goal, victory.

Girls gather after an intramural meeting.

soon came to his rescue and pulled him out in time for swimming practice, but not in enough time to eat breakfast.

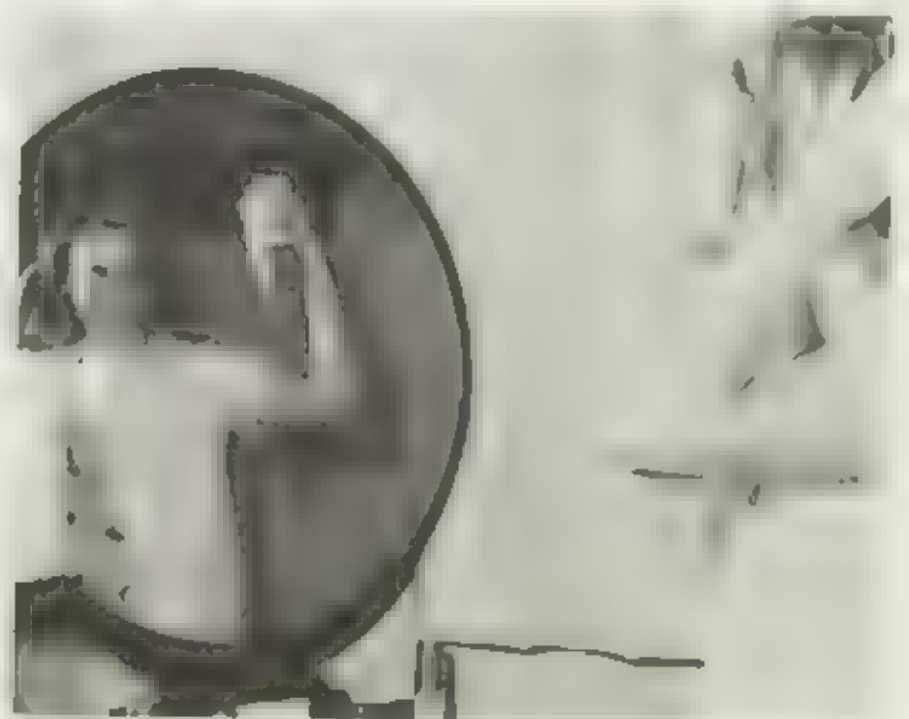

School days start long before homeroom

This Student Life section of the 1966 Fleur de Lis gives you an insight into a full day in the lives of students.

The Fleur de Lis selected Carol and Richard Pidruzny and JoAnn and John Zang to take us through a full day from sun up to the finish of a nights homework.

What falls in between may be funny, sad or serious, but whatever it is, it's Student Life.

Before leaving for school, Carol and Richard Pidruzny join their father in a bite of breakfast cereal. While above Carol adds a few last minute touches to her hair before heading off to classes.

Homeroom is school business and the latest gossip

Homeroom means many different things to people. To Richard Pidruzny and his friends it means discussing strategy for their coming Friday's football game against Highland Park in which Richard will be playing offensive center, and defensive tackle.

To other people it means discussing last night's big date, listening to the daily bulletin or planning activities for the coming weekend.

Lunch means food and friendly conversation

Noon begins with Carol Pidruzny and JoAnn Zang enjoying lunch while talking with friends in the Fordson cafeteria. Fordson's modern cafeteria comfortably seats a large number of students during the lunch hours and offers a variety of good foods

The Fordson lunchroom has a new addition this year, The Tractor Inn. The Inn is a newly constructed portion of the cafeteria in which only seniors are allowed to eat. There are no underclassmen permitted in this section of the lunchroom and the underclassmen fully respect this newly acquired Fordson custom

Homework is often turned into a community project when one student, namely JoAnn Zang, finds the work to be just a little hard to understand, much less solve by herself. Above, Patrick Anthony attempts to give her a helping hand with her U.S. History

Fordson's curriculum means hard work

Fordsonites express themselves through the many classes offered to them. In their classes they find outlets for their individual interpretations of ideas concerning current events, from the war in Vietnam to the latest fad. School days become familiar routine highlighted by heated panel discussions, spot quizzes, term papers, and unit tests

Fordson is an accredited high school which means that honor students planning on college need not take entrance exams

A new "pilot-study" course, called the humanities, has been added to the curriculum at Fordson. This course is being tried on eleventh graders and includes the study of music, art, poetry, literature, and grammar

Although school life is often supplemented with outside activities, the most important phase of it is, of course, classes. Whether these courses emphasize academic or vocational skills, they teach students how to assume responsibility and think for themselves which is the most important part of our goal of learning.

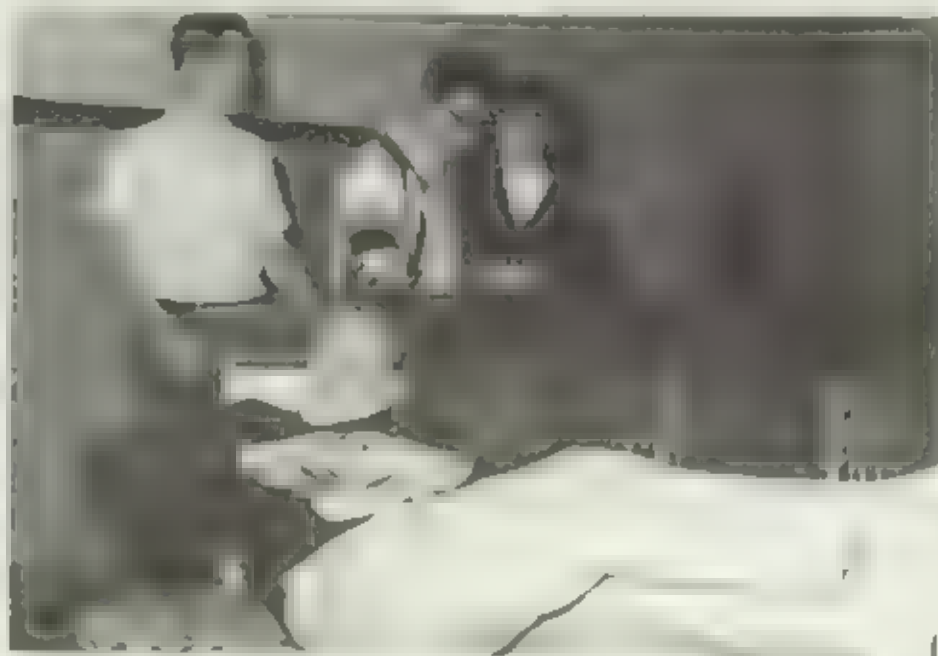

With a schools day at

Extracurricular activities at Fordson range from Glee Club before school to the "gentle" sport of Girls Field Hockey after school

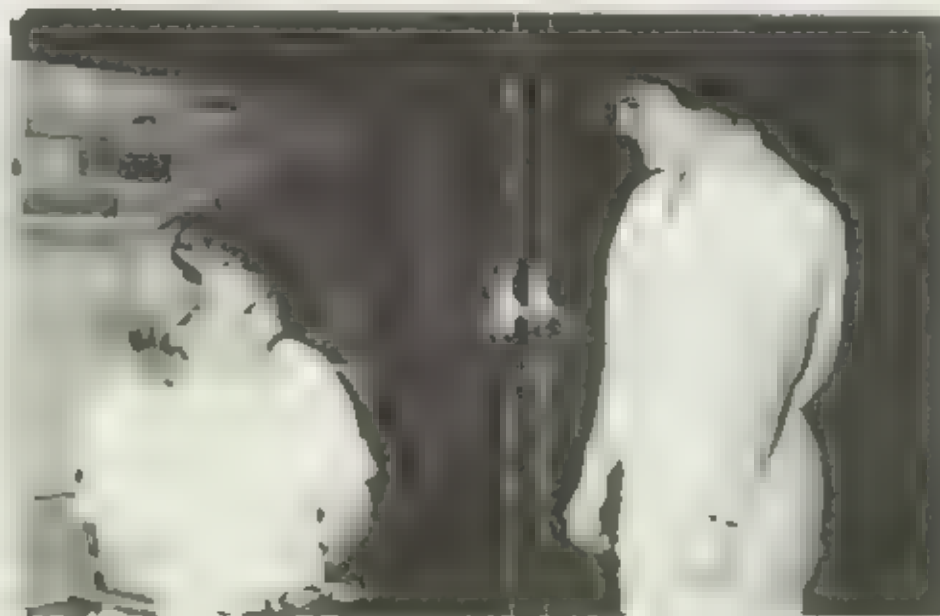

Some of the other sports which occupy a lot of the boys' time after school are varsity basketball, football, tennis, cross country and track Clubs are another popular form of school activity. Ranking among the top in these clubs are English, Art, French, Math-science and the German club.

Fordson's governing body, the Student Council, is also another one of the school's after hours activities

Richard Pidruzny takes a little snooze on upstairs B hall couch before reporting to football practice

Richard and Carol Pidruzny leave school to catch the bus home while JoAnn Zang (above) takes Linda Harp's physical fitness score in the girls' gym.

its end comes homework, a long silence and sleep

A smile is all that keeps JoAnn from falling asleep as she attempts to finish the last of her homework before heading off to bed

After a "Hard Day's Night" those weary bones are ready for a rest. So after all our books are put away, all homework is done, we turn off the late late show and retire to our room. But wait! It is not quite time to retire. First we must listen to our favorite song on the radio. Now it is time to turn off the light and dream, of friends in school.

After setting her hair and neatly tucking it away under her night cap JoAnn prepares for a long winter night's rest with her Teddy bear Gathering together for the last time before graduation are Carol Pidruzny, Richard Pidruzny, John Zang and JoAnn Zang at the bottom of the B hall stairs.

We will remember and cherish all our high school days at Fordson

Honor Guards escort Seniors during the Honors Assembly

High school is the end of an important era of our lives. To some it means beginning new lives in the working world, to others it means going on to further their education. However, every student who graduates from Fordson will always remember the school, the students and the activities, as they leave to go their separate ways. We hope that these high school days help mold our lives and make us into mature, responsible adults

A good understanding of our government is a necessity for all Fordson students

Fordson Seniors receive wood shop instruction.

Throughout each year from September until the following June, Fordson buzzes with excitement and anticipation of the many activities that are school sponsored.

Among the various activities of the year are the Get Acquainted Dance, the Homecoming Dance and Game, the January Senior Prom, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, the Hi-Y - Faculty basketball game, the Sponge Dance, the Junior Prom, the June Senior Prom and the Exchange Days with other schools in the BCL league in which the FHS teams compete.

Band Graduates Enter Many Musical Contests

This year Fordson's Concert Band was presented with one hundred new uniforms by the Dearborn school system. The uniforms, navy blue in color, have Fordson written in gold on the top left sleeve of the jacket. A gold overlay attaches to the back of the uniform.

The Concert Band, composed of Fordson's best musicians, performs for school assemblies, after school concerts, exhibition concerts and half-time ceremonies.

Each day during 6th hour the concert band meets to rehearse. Mr. Clarence Hewitt, director, leads the band in its rehearsal of selections in the field of symphonic, classical, jazz, pop, and blues music.

Jim Lulek, Cindy Clapp, Larry Baird, Loie Smith, Bob Rip, Cheryl Wojczan and Karen Hrapkiewicz, are the senior band members who are also section leaders. These musicians have reached the heights of the band and are looked up to by the other members for leadership and guidance.

THE FORDSON DANCE BAND, Henry Temple, Emery Korpas, Robert Ripp, Bill Bright, Mr. Hewitt, Charles Chavadarain, Dave Swain, Frank DeLuca, Bruce Hawthorne, Josephine Giancola, Fred DeCenzo, Frank Hillman, Nick Yankuts, Mike Adams, Jim Lulek, Herb Temple, Ernest Antczuk, Larry Baird and Mike Jablonski. The Dance Band plays for such functions as school concerts, outside concerts, basketball games, and school plays. The band is under the direction of Mr. Hewitt, and Larry Baird is the student conductor. The band is prepared and trained in the style of the old Glenn Miller band 20 odd years ago and the current numbers that are popular with young people today.

Fordson's majorettes and Dance Band play an intricate part in the instrumental music department

To become a member of the Dance Band, a boy must audition with Mr. Hewitt, show a genuine interest in dance music, be willing to sacrifice at least one Friday morning a week to the band and be a competent musician

In recent times majorettes have come to be known for more than their twirling abilities. They plan the football half-time shows, work on novelty numbers for the band assemblies, and are the private secretaries for the band. Most of the girls are also active in other organizations

New uniforms have been needed by the Concert Band for many years and this was the year they finally arrived music functions during the school year

The Fordson High School Orchestra is composed of strings, woodwinds, brass and percussion instruments with the greater portion consisting of strings.

Mr. Clarence Hewitt, director, selects the best woodwind players, brass and percussion from the concert band to make up the respective sections in the orchestra.

Although the orchestra has no uniform as such, the boys wear black slacks and white shirts with black ties and black coats. The girls usually wear black skirts and white blouses, though on occasion they wear dresses.

The orchestra meets during zero hour each morning except Fridays when the dance band meets.

During a school play the music is supplied by the orchestra. Quite often the orchestra plays during school concerts and performs outside concerts as well.

Fordson Cheerleaders boost school sportsmanship

Each spring semester witnesses the competition for positions on the varsity cheerleaders squad at Fordson High School. Selection is based on appearance, crowd appeal, cheering ability and all around general behavior.

The girls are present at all home and away football games and basketball games. Because of limited space, the girls are not present at swimming meets, wrestling meets, cross country meets and track meets. They are also not present at baseball games.

The major purpose of the cheerleading squad is to boost school spirit, to gain personal experience in performance and leadership roles, to boost sportsmanship among the team members and to develop positive sportsmanlike spectators.

This year there are ten girls making up the only cheerleading squad. They are captain, Lia Triff, 11A; co-captain, Nancy Dexter, 12B; Madelynn Anderson, 11B; Carol Brennamen, 12B; Gale Harla, 11B; Julie Korow, 12B; Pat Nero, 11B; Cindy Simon, 11A; Kathy Soddy, 11A; and Margaret Williams, 11B.

65 Homecoming Game Opens Autumn Semester

The highlight of Fordson's 1965 fall semester was the nomination and election of Cheryl Mitchell as Homecoming Queen. The game and dance were held on October 14

During the half-time ceremonies the band marched under the direction of Mr. Clarence Hewitt, Jr. The majorettes twirled in the formation of a heart just prior to the announcement of the queen.

Cheryl Mitchell was chosen out of a field of five girls to reign as Queen. She was escorted to the game by Jim Lulek

The underclass sections were represented on the Homecoming court by Cheryl Jergovich, Toni Knight, Barb Nehil, Cathy McCann, Nancy Caruso, Rose Ganthner, Nancy Alfansi, and Debbie Danish

Janet Bruno, Sue Solomon, Carolyn Stachura and Chris Zarembo were the senior girls who made up the rest of the court

Homecoming Dance Highlights Day's Activities

Fordson's Homecoming Dance was held in the boys' gym following the game. Decorations were made and put up by a committee from the Student Council. Blue and silver paper leaves and blue balloons with silver lettering spelling out "Homecoming '65" characterized the Autumn theme of the evening.

Cheryl Mitchell was escorted down the aisle and presented to the audience by her escort of the evening, Tom Rodgers.

Marty Nowak, co-captain of the football team, and Jim Lulek, president of the June Senior Class, presented Cheryl with the crown.

Cheryl wore a long slender dress of black sequin top and white crinoline skirt.

Music and entertainment were provided for the evening by Fordson's own Dance Band. The band was under the direction of Larry Baird. Selections such as "Misty," "Canadian Sunset," "Autumn Leaves," "Come September," and "May to September" were played in the old Glenn Miller big band style.

GAA promotes skill, sportsmanship for members

The Girl's Athletic Association (GAA) is an organization which promotes skill, friendship, sportsmanship through participation in team and individual sports. The GAA also aids in the intramural program. Officials at girl's intramural games are GAA members who have passed rigid tests to become officials.

Intramural participation in the numerous activities is recorded by the sports manager and the intramural official who are members of the GAA. When participants have received the required number of points, they may receive a letter award and membership into the club.

During the fall season the officers were Marilyn Janik, president; Linda Harp, vice-president; and Vicki Lowe, secretary-treasurer. When Linda graduated in January, Joanne Zang was elected vice-president.

Miss Joan Hitchner, Miss Alice Krug, Mrs. Dorothy Renko, Miss Virginia Valentine, and Miss Polly Zolik are the gym instructors and sponsors of the GAA.

Varsity Club brings sportsmanship to members

Fordson High School's Varsity Club, an extra curricular organization, is sponsored by wrestling coach, Mr. Dale Collier.

To attain membership in the highly organized club, a boy must meet specific qualifications. He must engage in varsity sports competition, earn a varsity letter in at least one sport, maintain a C— average, and be a student of good character and display good sportsmanship.

The purposes of the club are as varied as they are many. Members hope to maintain fellowship and to spend leisure time wisely as well as to obtain new friends. Members strive to build good athletic ability with social character and to build up school spirit.

It is more important for a club member to be a good loser when his team has failed in its bid to win the match, than it is for that same member to be a poor winner.

Student council works toward a better school

With the aid and guidance of Mr. Larry Soldan, sponsor, the Council plans the Homecoming Dance, the Homecoming parade, the election of the Queen, the Sadie Hawkins Dance, and the Teacher Appreciation Day in addition to the responsibility of acting as go between for the student body and the administration.

During the Christmas season, the Council is responsible for the many decorations in the halls, Ticket sales for school plays, Foreign Exchange Day, Clean-up, Paint-up, Fix-up week campaign and Easter decorations are the responsibility of the Student Council.

The Council is also a member of the three National Association of Students, the Junior Round Table, and the Border Cities League Federation.

1966 Fluer de Lis honors the many varied clubs

Fordson High School is a busy school at which the students have a wide variety of clubs to join and activities in which to participate. These pages are dedicated to those fine clubs

There are more than 15 clubs at Fordson. Listed in alphabetical order, they are the Art Club, the Booster Club, the Chess Club, the Creative Writing Club, the Drama Club, the English Club, the French Club, the Future Teachers Club, the German Club, the GAA, the Health Club, the Hi-Y Club, the Latin Club, the Math-Science Club, the Quill and Scroll, the Radio Club, the Varsity Club, the Ushers Club, and the Y Teens Club

Many of these clubs are service organizations and perform such services for the school as that of providing entertainment, supplying reading material, providing needed furnishings for the school, such as curtains for the girl's gym, providing the school with ushers at various school sponsored events, and providing students with a place to relax in a friendly atmosphere of good humor and companionship

Some of these clubs are affiliated with nation wide organizations while others are self contained and are not affiliated with any other organization make up a team of which Fordson can be proud

Fankers gain victory

The drive and spirit created in team or individual athletics creates a feeling of loyalty. Fordson teams have always kept spectators on the edge of their seats and this year was no different. The boys and the coaches should receive a special thanks for a job well done, for they have helped keep Fordson at the top of the athletic ladder. So go out there Fordson rooters and keep up the terrific school spirit.

Defend, block, rebound—these are the boys who keep any basketball team on the move

Offense grinds out yardage

Against Dearborn High the FHS defense proved to be rougher than what Fordson's cross town rival expected. Above Frank Butler (65), John DelRosso (20) and Chuck Knudson (63) combine to bring down a Dearborn bull carrier.

After taking a hand off from senior quarterback Phil Laurenty (10), co-captain Ron Terry (33), a senior fullback, prepares to use a stiff arm maneuver while trying to elude Monroe tacklers. Monroe's Trojans managed an 18-12 victory over the blue and maize of Fordson.

Tractor express halted by narrow margin

Fordson's 1965 football team opened the season like a Border Cities League contender as it squeaked by a tough Lincoln Park "eleven" 6-0 with junior halfback Carmen Morgia scoring for the Maize and Blue.

The Tractor's then ran out of gas as they dropped their next five games in a row. Edsel Ford managed a 14-13 win as the T-birds kicked the point after touchdown when regulation time had run out. Fordson then met Monroe, Royal Oak Dondero, Wyandotte, Grosse Pointe, Highland Park, and Dearborn in that order.

Monroe's Trojans defeated Fordson by an 18-12 margin as the FHS squad almost pulled it out. The Tractors then traveled to Royal Oak coming out on the short end of a 14-7 score. After the Acorn encounter, Wyandotte invaded Fordson on Homecoming Day to walk off with a 33-0 victory.

Grosse Pointe entertained the Tractors next on the annual Dad's Day. The Pointers' managed a victory. The Fordson team finally gained a triumph over Highland Park in the following game by a 19-6 margin. Junior Nader Baydoun was installed as the new quarterback due to senior quarterback Phil Laurenty's injury.

Senior halfback Tom Dunn (22) waits in vain for a long pass thrown by senior quarterback Phil Laurenty as an unidentified Monroe defensive back jumps high into the air to bat the ball away. The Trojans outlasted Fordson by an 18-12 margin.

Junior Carmen Morgia (29) sprints for the daylight as he receives a key block from Bruce Hawthorne in the background while another junior, Richard Aranosian (75) tries to run downfield to assist on the play.

Senior Tractor quarterback, Phil Lawrence (10) is being closed as he takes back looking for downhill receivers. Tackle Richard Arnow (75) helps by throwing a block while Bill Peretto (51) and Boyce Downs (60) try to catch up with the pass.

Fordson Cross Country team shows team spirit

To be a cross country runner a great deal of self discipline must be practiced at all times. This takes not only self sacrifice but a great deal of courage. Our cross country team members work hard long hours to make themselves capable of running the two long miles in the race. They work so they will be a better team that Fordson students will be proud of. Too often the cross country team is all but forgotten. But lets give credit where credit is due. Hats off to each and every one of the team members and to its fine coach, Mr. Terrance Thomas

Grapplers have fine team, individual year

Grapplers like Tom Bluhm, Frank Madden, Frank Seaville, and Bob Berry gave the Tractors a good solid team in 65 and 66. Said Berry also was outstanding all year. Tom Bluhm, one of Fordson's best wrestlers, went the complete season without a defeat. Tom also went on to pull second in the regionals at East Lansing. Frank Madden, senior, was also undefeated throughout the season. Bob Arkebour wrestled in the heavy-weight class most of the year and competed with wrestlers often fifty to sixty pounds more than he weighed. This takes more than just strength; it takes the kind of spirit that separates Fordson athletes from other athletes.

Fordson Junior Tom Bluhm takes his man down in a meet with Garden City. Tom had one of the best records in the area finishing the regular season undefeated and finishing second in the regional tourney.

GAA gives girls chance to participate in sports

Twice a year, in January and June, the Girls Athletic Association has a banquet which honors graduating seniors, introduces new members, and gives out awards to those who have earned them. This year the banquet was held at a local restaurant instead of the traditional Fordson cafeteria.

Girl's athletics develop both mind and body

G.A.A. officers are Vicki Lowe, Secretary-Treasurer; Linda Harp, Vice President; and Marilyn Janik, President. Yellow roses were given to all the officers and teachers at the G.A.A. banquet which was held in honor of the I2A members that are graduating

Girls athletics are stressed at Fordson as much as boys' athletics for the purpose of developing the well rounded individual. Each girl who participates in the intramural program is guided by three most capable leaders, Miss Alice Krug, Miss Virginia Valentine, and Miss Joan Hitchner. The girls at Fordson are always concerned about keen competition. Sportsmanship, and skill are not only in the program itself, but also in the Girls Athletic Association

Participants in the Intramural Program have an opportunity to earn their GAA "F" letter. The wearer of this letter is obviously proud of her achievements in the Girls Intramural Program. Winners wear the letter with pride and dignity.

Up and over goes the volleyball as teammates watch carefully with hope of winning the game with their opponents

Tennis and spring seem to go hand in hand Linda Harp, senior, was this year's intramural tennis singles champion.

Active intramural program offered to girls

These girls are improving both their skills and their good sportsmanship qualities while participating in a field hockey game after school

Many girls at Fordson participate in an active intramural program throughout the school year. Just one of the many sports offered is field hockey.

Joyce Donnelly prepares to pass to teammate Linda Ferrari while Diva Marzola attempts to break up the play and prevent a possible score.

Vernine, Linda Rafferty, Ruth Rorem, Rosary Pontone, Donna Burton, and Donna Jablonowski. Sitting: Carolyn Hinkle, Rosa Giavononne, Linda Ferrari, Karen Ouder-sluis, and Linda Presley.

Intramural points add up to G.A.A. membership

A variety of sports are offered to the girls through a well conducted intramural program. From September to May, such sports as tennis, field hockey, volleyball, singles ping pong, badminton singles, synchronized swimming, track and field, and competition swimming are offered.

Participation in many or all of these sports adds up to membership in the Girls Athletic Association. There are now 99 girls in the Club. Dues collected at the beginning of each semester are used for purchasing equipment for the intramural program. Such things as tennis backboards, and curtains for the girls' gym have been purchased in previous years.

A banquet is held every January and June and various awards are presented. The small F is awarded to all girls who achieve 500 points and the major F to those who attain 700 points. The highest award is the gold pin received when a girl earns 1600 points.

Under new head coach McIntyer, Fordson, cagers

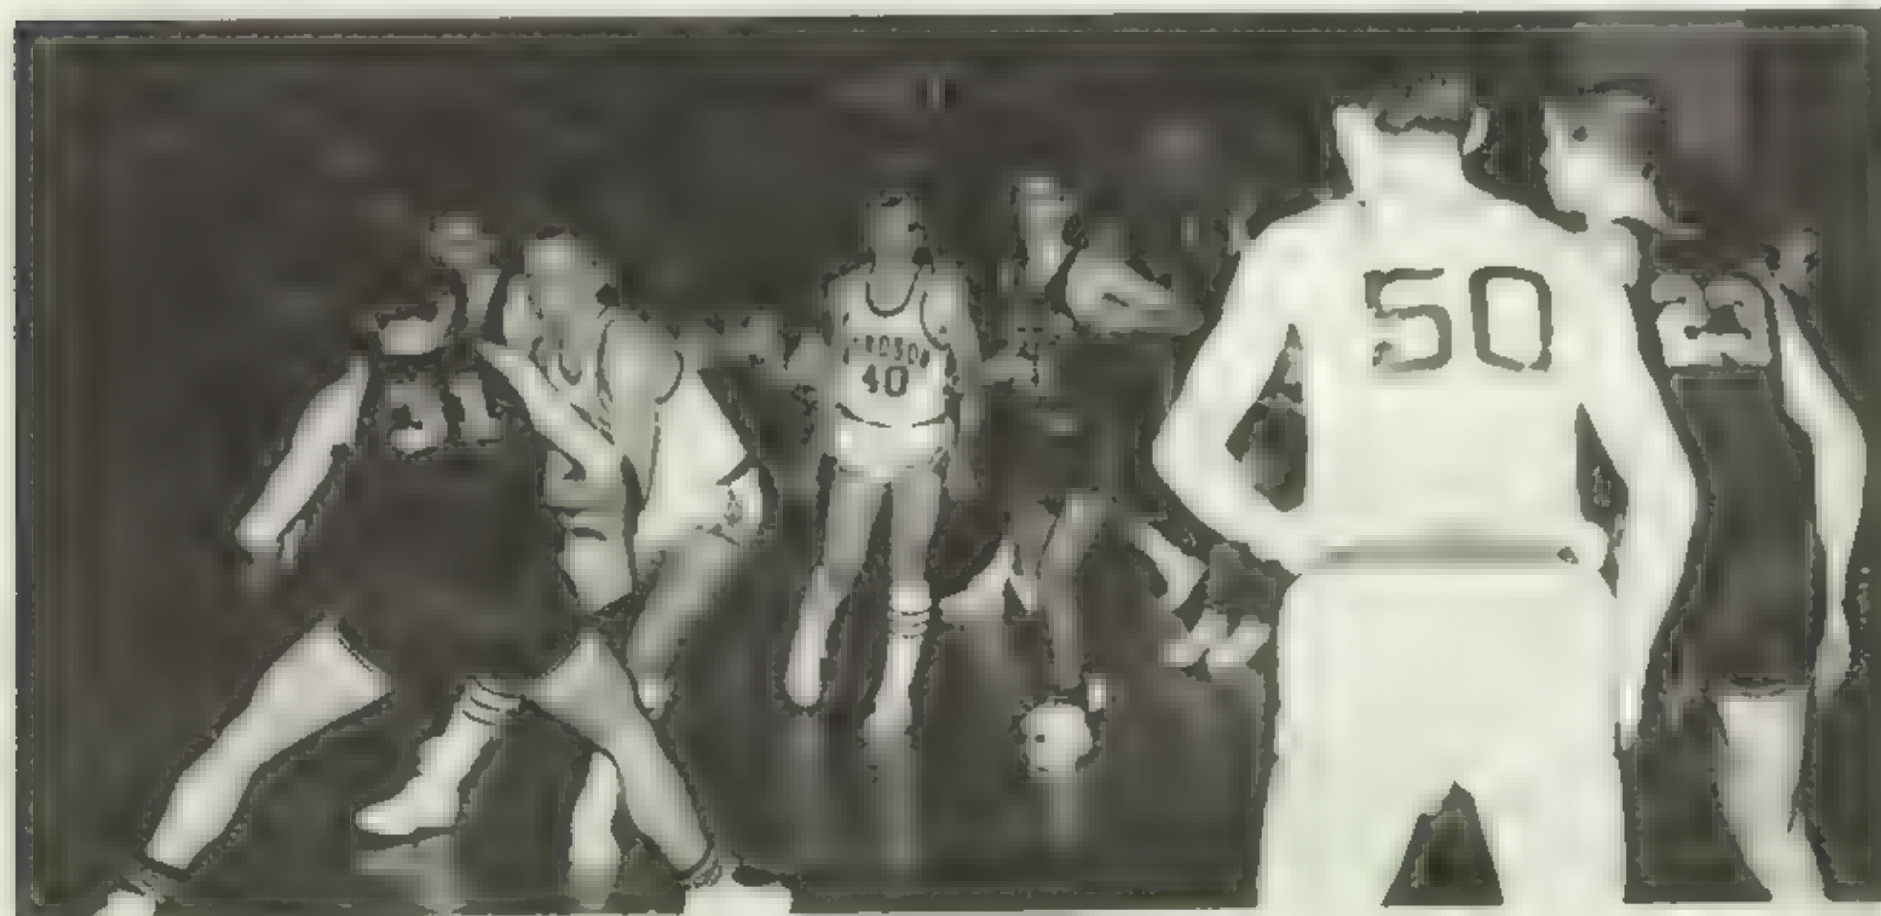

A hard man to stop. Tom Dunn drives against a Grosse Pointe defender for 2 points, which helped Fordson end in a victory.

The basketball dynasty of Jim (Chief) Vanderhull came to an end this season, when Chief stepped down and handed the reins over to one of his former stars, John McIntyre. McIntyre had some mighty big shoes to fill, but for a first year coach he proved that he has what it takes.

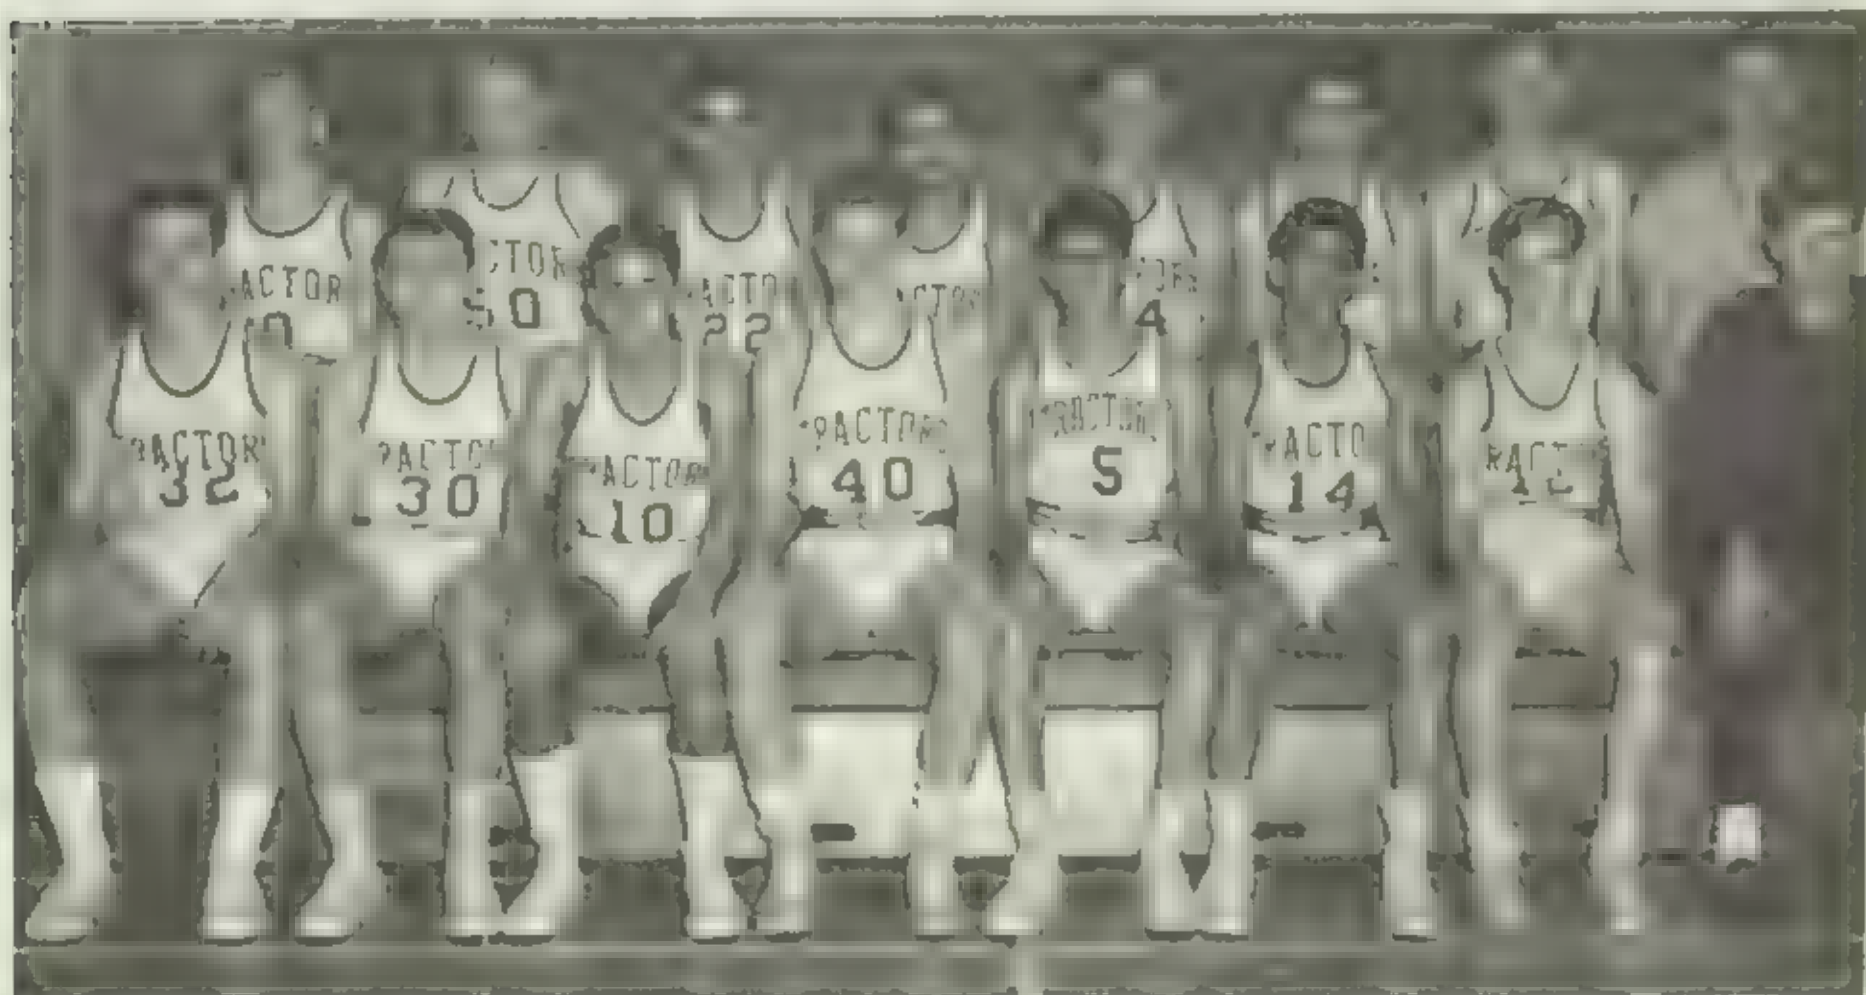

Even though the Tractors lost some fine players when All-City players Neimer Hamood, Tom Novak, and Phil Attee graduated in June, a new breed of all-stars stepped in to take over. Players like Guy DelGiudice, Tom Dunn, Dominic Rossi, Steve Cavanaugh, Kerry Spann, and Marty Nowak, proved that they had what it takes to make a champion team, but without the necessary height the Tractors fell short of the league championship. Although Fordson failed in a bid to regain the league title the Tractors supplied the fans with many exciting games that were hinged on a right break at the right time.

With better than half of the varsity squad graduating this year Coach MacIntyre will have to search the reserves to replace his starting five. Some of the possibilities for a new line up will have to include Dave Reuter and Bob Hadous, who already moved up to the varsity squad this year. Perhaps another DelGiudice will come from little Fred Moshman.

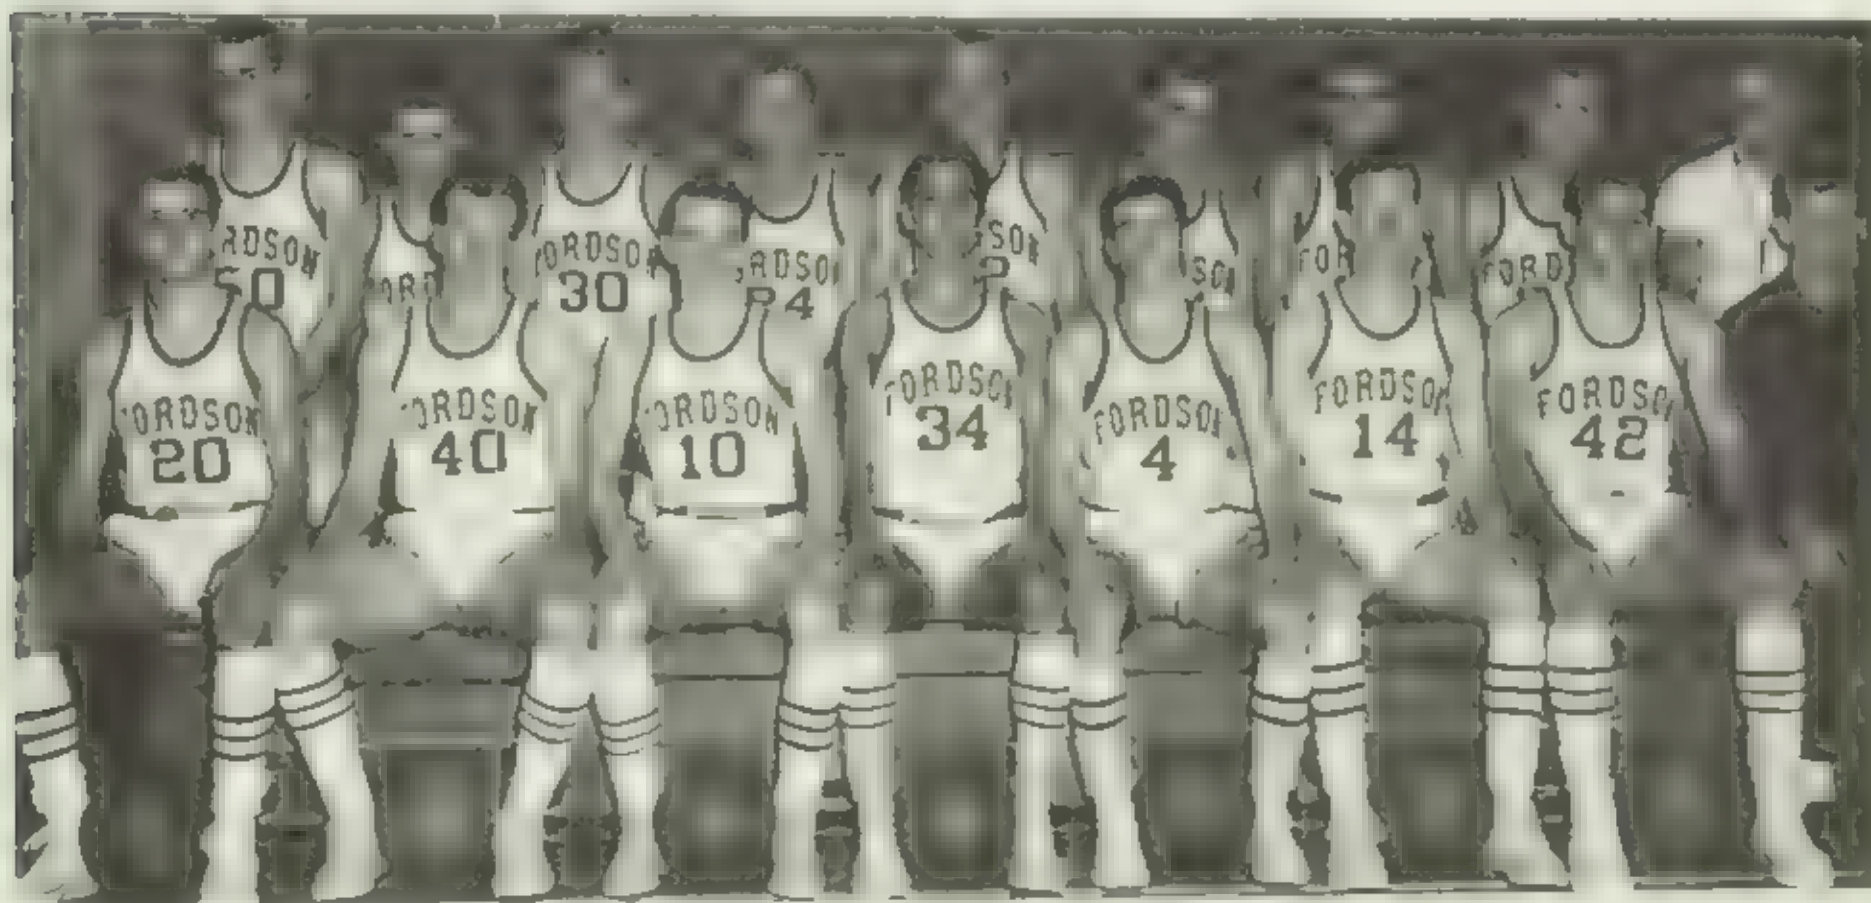

Marty Nowak had to fight for the ball when he was confronted by the big defender from Grosse Pointe. Ready to aid their teammate is No. 40, Tom Dunn and No. 50, Kerry Spann.

Cornered by two Grosse Pointe players, Dominic Rossi looks for someone to pass to as he crosses the center line. Against the Blue Devils, Dominic had his best evening of the 65-66 season. Two of Rossi's points put Fordson on top in the final minutes and helped the Tractors down the heavily favored Grosse Pointe. Dominic has been a member of the Fordson basketball team for three years and on the varsity for two of these

Fordson center Kerry Spann, No. 50, goes up for an easy two points, as Marty Nowak, No. 52, waits for a possible rebound. It was team effort that made the Tractors a respected and dangerous team in the BCL championship race.

When Kerry Spann wasn't clearing the boards for Fordson, he proved to be deadly accurate from the free throw line. Above he nets another which helped the Tractors beat Grosse Pointe 64-62.

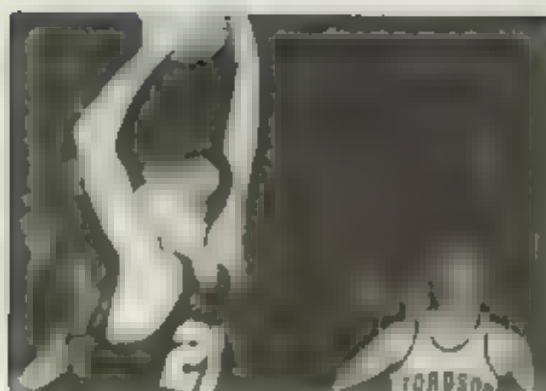

Tom Dunn, No. 40, flies through the air with the greatest of ease to put two more points on the Fordson side. This kind of drive was typical of the senior guard all year long. No. 24, Steve Cavanaugh, comes up to get a possible rebound away from a Royal Oak defender

Fordson's captain Guy DelGudice was the big gun for the Tractors all season. The flashy forward scored in double figures all year, and at free throws he was amazing. At the right, Number 52, Marty Nowak does a high flying step as he goes up for two against a R.O. Dondero defender. Marty, although hampered with a knee injury, played outstandingly all season

Tractors of the future will carry on our torch of sportsmanship and team spirit to recorded time

Fordson cage squad proves they have fighting spirit

When a team is close to capturing a championship, there comes a feeling so exciting that everyone involved is just caught up in it like a fever. This feeling has captured individual, groups of people and even whole cities. This year it has captured Fordson High School.

The team that lost its stars from a year ago, the team that was starting from scratch with a new coach, and a new starting lineup, the team that had no height, this is the team that has worked, hustled, worked, rebounded, scored, worked and fought their way to greatness. This is the 1966 Fordson High School Basketball Team of which each Fordsonite can be proud.

Everyone who has seen the Tractors play this year will never forget how the team displayed a sustained hustle no matter what the score or opponent. Who can forget the fantastic game they played at Livonia Franklin against a much taller U of D High.

First, let's start at the beginning. With the departure of Mr. Jim Vanderhull from the coaching scene, everyone wondered who would take over the Chief's position. The answer was Mr. John McIntyre, a former All-State guard on the 1953 State Champion team from Fordson High. Coach McIntyre was faced with the job of molding a winning basketball team out of a team with really no towering height and a team with only one experienced player. The team had potential that had to be brought out by constant coaching and practice. As each game passed everyone could see each and every player improve. This is the mark of a good team and a great coach.

Everyone must agree that Mr. John McIntyre is one of the finest coaches in the state. His fiery spirit, that the 1953 state champs had when Mr. McIntyre led that team to the title, was instilled into his boys. The players who have played under Coach McIntyre will carry this tremendous competitive spirit all through their lives no matter what they do.

This is the team that everyone figured to be out of the basketball finals. But this is also the team that beat Lowery, Edsel Ford, Livonia Bentley, and U of D to capture District and Regional titles.

Everyone must surely feel a special way about this year's team. Each and every player on the varsity and reserve squads have kept the Fordson fight and spirit alive and instilled it in every Fordson Student. This gave each Fordson athlete a fighting spirit that is hard to top. They are a credit to Fordson and the whole city of Dearborn.

Fordson swimmers ranked among best in state

Taking in that last breath of air, seniors Bill Roche (co-captain) and Art Nash take off for a fast 100 yards. Roche finished first with a time of 53.0 and Nash came in just behind him with a time of 53.3

After many long weeks of practice and late dinners the Fordson Swimming team finally has something to be proud of. The tankers came up with one of the finest teams in the history of Fordson swimming. Swimmers like Dave Pohlonski, John Zang, John Johnson, and all of the fine young men Mr. William Letsche has produced in the Fordson pool have given the halls of our school something to talk about. Missing the BCL swimming title by the grand total of four points, the team was a strong contender for the state championship. This was all brought about by a team spirit which coach Letsche kept warm inside the teams' heart. But it takes fine individual effort to make a good team. Fordson also had this, in Dave Polonski. Dave was one, if not the best, of freestylers in the state of Michigan.

John Zang stretches out, as he gets the jump over teammate Ken Hammond and an opponent from Allen Park. John finished the 100 yard breast stroke with a time of 1:07.3, which qualified him for state

Hard work brings new records to "Tractor" pool

Ron Cole leads off the 400 yard freestyle relay in a meet against Highland Park. The Tractor relay finished first and set a new pool and school record. Swimmers for the tankers were Ron Cole, Dave Pohlonski, Art Nash and Bill Roche.

The Fordson team gets up and cheers as the Tractors slam their competitors from Allen Park in the 200 yard individual medley. Fordson won the meet with a score of 62-43.

Golf team swings back into spring action

Jim Schultz prepares to tee off as Wayne Roe, Mr. Leonard Bloch, Tom Maierle and Bob Biestak, give their approval

"Experience will be this year's magic word for the golf team," commented Mr. Leonard Bloch, Fordson golf coach. Returning lettermen Jim Schultz, Wayne Roe, and Tom Maierle give the team a real one, two, three punch. Another experienced golfer on the team is junior Bob Biestak who did not see much action last year but is slated to see plenty of it this year. Schultz and Maierle are expected to carry most of the load. Jim, a good hard swinger, shot consistently in the high 30's and low 40's. Tom Maierle, a good iron man, shot good control golf last year.

Like all the other spring sports coaches, Mr. Bloch is hoping for an early spring so his boys can get out and start practicing. The golf team plays its home meets at the Dearborn Country Club. The BCL has not yet organized a league, so the team competes as an independent against other high schools.

Practice makes perfect. That's the way juniors Bob Biestak and Wayne Roe look at it as they improve their swings at a golf practice session

Tennis squad has it's own swing to show off

Senior John Delrosso looks like the picture of concentration as he waits for his opponent's serve in a recent home tennis match

Fordson's 1966 tennis team should be a top contender for the league title. The team took second place honors last year behind Grosse Pointe. Returning lettermen John Delrosso, Emery Korpas, Guy DelGuidice and Bruce Hawthorne made this year's team strong, and well-balanced

Other returning tennis players from last year were Lyn Yeager, Larry Baird, and Jim Divincenzo. Last year's coach, Mr. Harry Nustad, has since moved over to Henry Ford Junior College

Fordson cindermen look for best record in years

Fordson's track team, after a long winter, is ready to find out how much difference a year can make. Last year's team was an improved squad over the year before, but still had a losing year. The 1966 team has enough talent to have a good year. Paul Dery, an All City man in his first year, is one of the finest trackmen in the area. Last year he ran the 220 and competed in the broad jump. John Nicolas ran the 880 in All City fashion and hopes to repeat with another fine year

Senior hurdler, Ken Wright, strains to beat a Highland Park runner over the hurdle of the 120 yard highs.

Talented juniors carry the load with versatility

Finding a good sprinter has been the Tractors main problem. In the field events the cindermen have shown improvement. Shotputters Richard Aronson and Bill Peretto, have worked hard to make that event a little stronger this year. Paul Dery will give the broad jump event an exciting atmosphere. The junior set a school record last year with a jump of better than 20 feet. Dery, also a good sprinter, ran the 220 and 100 yard dashes.

Junior Paul Dery stretches out for more distance in the broad jump. The versatile cinderman set a new school record with a jump of better than 20 feet last year, and hopes to improve on his own record this year.

Diamondmen rank among top teams in state

With eleven returning lettermen, it looks like Fordson has another powerhouse this year on the ballfields. Pitching will be the key to this year's team. With four returning chuckers, Jim Lulek, Ron Fair, Bill Besse, and Steve Zimmerman, Fordson promises to have another good defensive team. Mr. John Guerrieri will take over the coaching.

Every enlightened student has

an enlightened instructor to guide him

Mr. Michie Megregan celebrates Armen in Christmas

Just as a company is only as good as its leaders, a high school is only as good as its faculty. To the faculty of Fordson we turn for guidance, praise, and even criticism. Under watchful and ever-helpful supervision, we develop into mature individuals. A student learns only as much as his teacher desires to teach him. It is the faculty which makes a high school scholastically accredited and helps each student progress upward on the stairway to the future

Fordson faculty gathers for a meeting

The office core keeps Fordson running

Assistant principals, Mr. Michael Megregian and Miss Elizabeth Rice, and Fordson principal, Mr. Harvey Faylor, give their attention to matters of concern to Fordson. The principals play an integral part in drama of everyday life at Fordson. Administrators take an interest in all school activities. The transition from one semester to the next is run as smoothly as the passing of one day to the next. These three able administrators of Fordson keep the school running efficiently.

The counselor's office is an inviting place to most Fordson students. Fordson counselors, who are always willing to help are Mrs. Katherine Godfrey, Mr. Larry Soldan, Mr. Lyle Beardslee, Mr. Eugene Watts, Mrs. Mary Beauchamp, Miss Dorothy Burrell

Mrs. Elsie Freitag, and Mr. Verlyn Beardslee. They are vitally interested in each student's welfare and help in building the futures of Fordsonites

Students receive guidance from counselors

From the 10B's first day until the senior's last, the students' main source of information and guidance is his counselor. His counselor does the behind-the-scenes work of making out the student's program. Planning schedules must include the right combination of courses to cultivate the student's interest and to fill graduation requirements. The counselors have the responsibility of helping us make the most of our three years at Fordson.

Essential also to the smooth operation of Fordson High are the several secretaries who perform countless, indispensable tasks. Some of their duties include keeping attendance records, handling telephone messages, filing reports, handling cash matters, and just acting as friendly helpers and aides to students. Students are familiar with the duties of the school clerk who daily sells school supplies.

Miss Beverly Siegel and Mr. Richard Herbel, special education teachers, look over and discuss some of the material they use in their work with Fordson students. They often play as big a role in the life of students as the counselors. A special education teacher usually can have more time to devote to a student than a counselor.

Mrs. Catherine Underwood and Mrs. Margaret McHenry, the two librarians, keep books in order and efficiently as they take a look at the list of students who have over due books. Regular books from the circulation desk are loaned for two week period and may be renewed unless the book has been reserved by someone else. Pamphlets, clippings, and magazines from the reference desk may be borrowed for one day. These materials may be checked out during the school day.

There is always a place for peace and quiet

Fordson's spacious library provides both a comfortable and quiet place to study. It is a well-known fact that our library is one of the best in the state. The library is open every school day from 7:30 to 4:30 so it will accommodate the needs of our ever-growing student body.

A study hall is just what the name implies. It is a place where studying must be done. One study hall a day will not take care of all your homework, but if used to good advantage, it will give you some leisure time at home.

Fordson's library contains approximately 100 different kinds of magazines and has a collection of more than 21,000 books.

Anyone having a study hall has the privilege of coming to the Library on the condition that he stay the entire period. Here, four students take time to study.

It just takes a little talent and imagination

In commercial art classes the student is given problems which acquaint him with principles of design, color, composition, layout, and lettering. Students work on posters, greeting cards, book jackets, record albums, life drawing, labels, and packaging design.

In the general art classes, the student works on design, painting, and drawing, which includes various media — pencil, charcoal, chalks, water colors, inks and oils.

A study is made of the contemporary artists as well as of the masters. Emphasis is placed on signing, painting and drawing

Members of the Art Department, Mr. Richard Cicero, Mrs. Mildred Lyman, Mr. Peter Donohue and Mr. H. O. Leyster, discuss future plans for art exhibits along with new ideas for art projects in the many art courses offered at Fordson.

Connie Kroll and Kathy Sinclair work on their paintings in General Art class as Mr. Richard Cicero takes a look and gives a few suggestions for improvement.

Seniors, Faye Randolph and JoAnn Rickter put finishing touches on their paintings in Fashion Design. This course is for students interested in fashion illustration, costume design, and sewing.

"Dexterity" is a must in the industrial age

John Pelaccio, Chuck Reed, and Bob Parker work on one of the presses in print shop

From working problems in shop math to running machines in machine shop, students gain valuable knowledge of trades in the Industrial Department. While teaching students, some industrial courses perform services for the school like printing the Tower Tribune

Listed alphabetically are the Industrial teachers Mr. Glenn Bockstanz, Mr. Leroy Charlack, Mr. John Hamel, Mr. John Hagel, Mr. James Linville, Mr. Ted Mates, Mr. Stephen Malt, Mr.

Weldon Musgrove, Mr. Alan Ochsner, Mr. Charles Paterson, Mr. Eugene Pezzotti, Mr. Gerald Potter, Mr. Carl Rol, Mr. Henry Seekamp, Mr. Fred Sitkins, Mr. Jerome Toler and Mr. Sam Vasta.

Business administration stresses accuracy

Students are busy working for accuracy as well as speed while typing an assignment on the electric IBM typewriters

Speed and accuracy are stressed above all in the commercial department. First, accuracy is obtained, second, speed is built, then the two advance hand-in-hand toward the goal of a successful future in the business world. Typing and shorthand take care of stenography while business English and business law teach us how to handle different situations arising along the correspondence and legal lines. Office machine calculating provides sufficient experience with most kinds of office equipment, from dictaphones to mimeographs.

Listed alphabetically are the Business teachers Mr. Murray Bates, Mr. Allen Bogucki, Miss Judith Casemore, Miss Cheryl Davisson, Mr. David Grainger, Mrs. Norma Hall, Miss Ethel Ivanoff, Mr.

Samuel Kopp, Miss Jane Lombard, Mr. James Todd and Miss Marilyn Westrich.

Homemaking classes involves babysitting

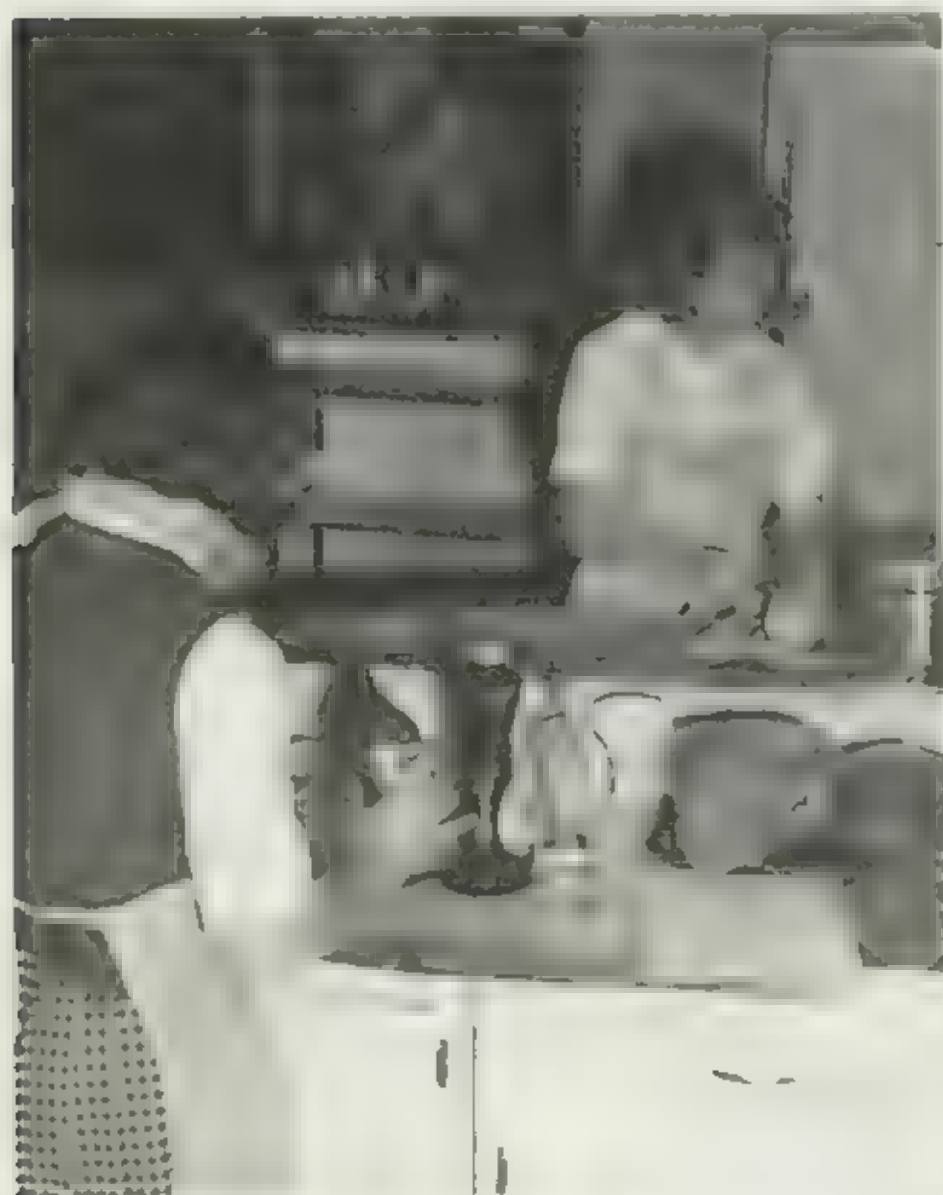

Future homemakers find "KP" a duty that always accompanies those "delicious meals" they cook and eat in foods classes. Pizza is still high on the popularity poll of foods. New styles and "fads" are also created daily in clothing classes.

About eighty-five percent of all girls eventually become homemakers. Some carry additional careers. Skill in homemaking helps girls meet present and future needs both in the home and in the business world.

A student may elect consecutive semesters of clothing and foods, or alternate clothing and foods.

Mr. Clarence Hewitt, concert band director, and Mr. Norman Cramer, Concert choir director, along with Glee Club director Mr. Rex Brown, discuss future musical presentations for Fordson High School

Any student interested in music, whether the interest be vocal or instrumental, can find fulfillment in the excellent courses offered at Fordson. The courses offered are as follows: Men's Glee Club, Girl's Chorale, Concert Band and Concert Choir

Also on top is Fordson's Dance Band. When it starts to swing, it's hard for listeners to keep from clapping their hands and tapping their feet. The band often plays at school dances and some of the basketball games.

Girls' Chorale is a zero-hour group especially designed to give girls an opportunity to sing in a select vocal group. The group participated in the Christmas Concert and in various other school assemblies

Men's Glee Club is a group designed to give male students an opportunity to sing in a vocal group. This select group participated in the Christmas Concert and in various other school assemblies

Social studies department boasts a dedicated staff

Fordson's social science department endeavors to give students a working knowledge of the democratic process, the place of the United States in the world today, the glory of her past and a look into her future. This information is vital to Fordson students in order that they may become useful and responsible citizens of a free nation.

The social science department gives students a chance to study how people live and how they handle social problems in today's society. A better understanding of your inner self is explored through sociology and personal living classes. Classroom activities give students a knowledge of the democratic process and the procedures which make up the American government.

Students in Mr. John Curran's economics class discuss labor unions and their effects on the American economy as a whole.

language involves its use and refinement

A good command of the English language is an essential part of success in the world today. The formula for success begins with the ability for an individual to express himself well. In our English classes at Fordson, activities are centered around a real understanding of our language. We take part in class discussion and present speeches and debates. These activities help us learn to communicate more effectively. Writing themes and short stories develop effective thinking patterns.

All of our training is directed toward skill in interpretation and evaluation of the written word.

Students read an interesting story in this section of English class.

Meeting together to discuss language problems, classroom activities, and curriculum, the English instructors, alphabetically, are Mr. Frederick Allen, Mr. Eugene Baker, Mr. Leonard Bloch, Mr. John Bonfiglio, Mr. Rex Brown, Mr. Eugene Cummins, Mrs. Marion Fisher, Mr. Gilbert Hamilton, Mrs. Isabell Johnson, Mr.

Willard Kendall, Mr. Joseph Kolpacke, Mr. Harry Meyer, Miss Mona Niblett, Mr. James Osterberg, Mr. Ray Schultz, Mr. Jerome Sherman, Mrs. Judy Shoemaker, Mr. Terrence Thomas, Mr. Henry Waterkamp, and Mr. Richard Zimmerman.

The math department boasts a dedicated staff

These three math students diligently work at the board, problems found in their books

Busy are the students who have a math major. First of all, they are welcomed into the 10B with algebra. In this class, they study equations, graphs, exponents, and powers. By the eleventh grade they are ready to tackle first plane and finally solid surfaces in geometry. With the twelfth grade, they end out the course with trigonometry, the analyzation of angles

A desire to extend their knowledge of mathematics beyond the essentials covered in class has led these students to join the Math Club. At bi-weekly meetings, various activities add to club members' understanding of the subject.

Fordson's math instructors furnish students with the needed techniques for solving the various types of problems, whether it be proving a theorem, solving an equation or just calculating numbers. The teachers in the math department listed alphabetically are: Mr. Herbert Beddow,

Mr. Emilio Conti, Mr. John Guerrieri, Mr. John Hamel, Miss Arlene Huard, Mr. Charles Justice, Mr. William Kauth, Mr. Robert Olsen, Mr. William Podorsek, and Mr. Henry Waterkamp

Physical education, a basic in development

The Fordson fighting spirit penetrates all sports whether the sport is played in B.C.L. competition or in classroom skirmishes. Offering nearly every game from table tennis to softball, girls gym classes are sure to have a sport to interest everyone.

The great spirit of competitiveness in Fordson boys is given a chance to function in gym classes; speed, strength, accuracy, and power are developed and built.

Whether Fordson students are in gym classes or intramural activities, they know they can always count on the friendly advice of the gym teachers. To these students, they hold titles of advisors, companions, instructors, spirit boosters, and morale builders. These poor 'unsuspecting' souls are occasionally the victims of our 'innocent' practical jokes.

Girls' physical education instructors add to the health and vitality of Fordson girls. Smiling here are Mrs. Dorothy Renko, Miss Joan Hutchner, Miss Alice Krug, and Miss Virginia Valentine.

Miss Virginia Valentine leads the girls in some fancy foot-work during girls' dancing class. Dancing is just one of the many activities in which girls engage in during gym.

The boys' gym teachers who bear the responsibility of keeping Fordson boys physically fit are: Mr. William Letsche, Mr. George Lewis, Mr. William Thurston, and Mr. Leo Shirley.

Underclassmen begin to realize

their responsibilities as students of Fordson

Underclassmen find advice from their teachers very helpful.

"Knock and it shall be opened unto you." With this advice in mind, underclassmen make their way through two years of continual adjustment. It is during these two years that most of the high school knowledge is absorbed. Underclassmen learn the importance of knowing when to resist, when to yield, and when to adapt. Of more significance, however, is that they learn to recognize their responsibilities as Fordsonites and individuals of modern society.

Mr. Louis Fitzpatrick, chemistry teacher, gives pointers on laboratory procedure.

Time

By Peggy Mrowca

Time
It can rush swiftly by leaving behind a trail of events that makes one wish
he had used time
already gone by
It can drag slowly
with every minute
seeming an hour
It will elude
if we let it.
It will crawl
if we don't use it.
Time is so . . .
very precious every second minute hour
once gone
it is never regainable.
With it go experiences and events
leaving only memories . . .
and more time.
